

Upcoming Extension Programming in Early 2020

Brooke Beam, PhD

Agriculture and Natural Resources/Community Development Extension Educator

Ohio State University Extension, Highland County

December 13, 2019

As we enter a busy time of year for family gatherings, holiday parties, and the rush to complete the accounting for the year, we have the opportunity to look forward to new and exciting things in the New Year. There are several Extension programs planned in the upcoming weeks, so be sure to mark your calendar for the following dates.

Managing Stored Grain – 2019 Considerations

This live webinar will be held on Friday, December 20, 2019, from 3 PM to 4 PM. 2019 conditions led to variable grain quality causing many potential storage issues. Dr. Ken Hellevang, North Dakota State University, will contribute to a live webinar to share information on managing stored grain including high moisture and damaged grain. This webinar is free to attend and can be accessed from your own computer. To register, visit go.osu.edu/StoredGrain

Pesticide and Fertilizer Recertification will be held on January 15, 2019. Applicators who need to renew their certifications will be mailed a letter from the Ohio Department of Agriculture in December. Registration for the recertification course is available through the OSU Extension, Highland County Office. The cost for both pesticide and fertilizer recertification training is $40, pesticide recertification only is $35, and fertilizer recertification only is $15. There is an additional licensure fee that is paid directly to the Ohio Department of Agriculture.

Exploration of International Agriculture – Ireland

Learn more about Irish agriculture and how you can implement agriculture tours on your farm. This program will include samples of Irish products. This program will be held on January 22, 2020, at 5 PM in the Large Meeting Room in the basement of the Highland County Administration Building. The cost to attend is $5.00 per person. RSVP in advance to the OSU Extension, Highland County office at 937-393-1918.
